- 1.4. A number of consultants reports were carried out since 2018 which gave recommendations in relation to procurement:
 - Scotland Excel Review
 - Planned Maintenance Overspend Quinn Internal Audit

Sustainable Procurement Duty

Specifically in the context of addressing organisations' obligations under the Sustainable Procurement Duty, it should be kept in mind that the Scottish public sector approach to sustainable procurement is closely linked to the priorities set out in the National Performance Framework (NPF) and is underpinned by a range of sustainability indicators, outlined below. Organisations might find it helpful to refer to NPF outcomes and related indicators in their reports:

- Climate change (carbon and energy consumption, carbon in production, adaption, carbon in vehicle emissions);
- Materials (scarcity, security);
- Waste (production, reuse/recondition/remanufacture);
- Hazardous materials/emissions;
- Bio-security
- Bio-diversity (protection and enhancement);
- Heritage (protection and enhancement);
- Water (consumption and production);
- Employment (skills and training, SMEs/social enterprises/supported businesses this element of compliance directly relates to the distinct reporting obligations in section 5 and 6 of this template);
- Communities:
- Security and crime (impact and improvement);
- Fair and ethical trading (working conditions, conflict materials);
- Equality (protected characteristics);
- · Fair work.

Further details on these indicators, including definitions, are available from the sustainability test.

Organisations are able to add any local priorities to the tools when they are employing the approach outlined in the statutory guidance, so may have other elements they need to report on.

By using the tools as advocated in the statutory guidance, organisations should be able to identify and pursue opportunities associated with individual procurement projects.

This approach should allow organisations to meet reporting obligations under the Climate Change (Scotland) Act 2009 and the Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012.
